SHANGRI-LA'S RASA SAYANG RESORT & SPA, PENANG PAYS SECOND TRIBUTE TO CINTA DISCOTHEQUE

Penang, Malaysia, 10 October 2014 – Shangri-La's Rasa Sayang Resort & Spa, Penang will revive the iconic Cinta Discotheque for the second time on Saturday, December 6, 2014 for those who love the disco genre. This night, entitled “All For The Love of Cinta” is back by popular demand.

The first Cinta revival was in conjunction with the resort's 40th anniversary celebration in 2013. Cinta Discotheque, which opened in 1972, was first known as “Gypsy Caravan” before being rebranded as “Juliana's of London”. Subsequently, the same disco was renamed Cinta, which means “romantic, passionate love”, after its mother resort, Rasa Sayang, which means “a feeling of love”. Cinta Discotheque was closed in 1997.

Among the acts that graced Cinta during its heyday were Malaysian artiste Zainal Abidin and jazz queen Shiela Majid. Top 8-piece veteran Malaysian band “Heavy Machine” will take centre stage this December.

“Disco aficionados and former customers can rekindle the glamour of the 80s and have a nostalgic night dancing to music from that era and playing Cinta party games. The success of last year's event and a request for another Cinta night is the reason why we are organising a sequence called “All For The Love Of Cinta”, said Suleiman Tunku Abdul Rahman, Director of Communications. “Heavy Machine, Malaysia's longest playing live band, will be on hand to belt out retro dance tunes.”
